City Hails Our Flyers

Hail the conquering heroes! And that's just what more than 50,000 Edmonton men, women and children have in mind for tonight.

Already, in this hockey-crazed northern Alberta metropolis, advantageous sites along the city's main thoroughfare are being surreptitiously eyed by young and old as everyone vies for "my spot" in the huge victory celebration, scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m., in honor of Canada's senior amateur hockey champions, the Edmonton Flyers.

The victorious Flyers, conquerors of Ottawa's Senators, arrived home early Sunday morning unannounced, much to the disappointment of thousands of fans who had planned a rousing reception.

It's Biggest Thing Yet

However, the fans will have their big opportunity tonight.

Civic officials are making plans to handle almost every able-bodied citizen along the "main drag" this evening.

All available police will be pressed into duty to keep things in check, and protect the life and limb of rabid hockey enthusiasts who may throw caution to the winds in what is expected to be "the wildest demonstration in the city's history."

This is the first opportunity Edmontonians have had in 40 years to welcome an Allan Cup winner.

Starts at CPR Depot

The victory parade will lineup at the CPR depot at 7 p.m. for the march through the downtown area.

F. W. Purkis, parade committee chairman, said today that a procession of four bands, more than 300 athletes and the mayor and aldermen would lineup for the big parade.

The Flyers will be enthroned on a decorated float.

Mayor Harry Ainlay will deliver the city's congratulations from a rostrum in the Market Square, following which the parade will move off to Prince of Wales Armoury where an impromptu public dance and sing-song will give the public a chance to personally meet the champs.

City banquet to the conquerors will be tendered May 17.

From the train depot, the parade will take the following order: Behind the flag bearers and motorcycle escort will be executives of Edmonton's hockey organizations. Then the leading basketball teams of the city, the Golden Bears, Morton's, Precision Machines, Victoria High School, then the Canadians hockey team, the South Siders, the Maple Leafs and the Mercuries.

So there you are folks! Get out your shoulder and shin pads and join us at seven. We'll all be there.

'Handy Andy' Sparks Flyers to Allan Cup

By Stan Mohr
Bulletin Sports Editor

CALGARY, May 10.—Out on the Pacific coast a couple of years ago an enterprising sportswriter took a look at winger Clivechok of the Vancouver Canucks and quickly hung on him the nickname "Handy Andy."

Little did the typewriter pounder know how squarely he was hitting the nail on the head.

Clivechok, a Czechoslovakian-born sniper who can put that puck where he wants it to go, was even more than just a handy guy in Calgary's Victoria Arena Saturday night. As a matter of fact he personally saw to it that a large sized gob of hockey history was made.

For the first time in the close to 40 years of Allan Cup competition an Edmonton team is in possession of the prized trophy. A 5-3 conquest of Ottawa Senators by Flyers in the fifth game of the finals turned the trick.

It was the "Handy Andy" one who sparked a thrilling payoff for Flyers arising in the last four and one-half minutes of play. During this time the westerners tallied three to wipe out a one-goal lead which Senators were nursing.

Figuring prominently in the final result was a penalty box battle involving Harvey (Pug) Young of Canada's new champions, and Jack Irvine, slippery right winger of the now-defeated eastern squad.

Following a hard body slam which Young dishied out to Eddie Zmberg, smashing the slim Ottawa forward to the ice from where he had to be helped to the dressing room, the Flyer rearguard was waved away to serve a two-minute sentence. When he objected rather pointedly to the sentence a 10-minute misconduct was tacked on.

By winning, the Edmonton team had shown the series was not "fixed."

Mr. Dechenne recalled that 40 years ago Edmonton challenged Montreal Wanderers for the Stanley Cup. Fisheries Minister MacKinnon was president of the Edmonton club, which lost out in the Stanley Cup series by a "few goals."

Abbott Bringing Down Budget Tues., May 18

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott announced today in the Commons he will bring down the budget the evening of May 18 at 5 p.m. (MST).

Capital sources concede it likely that Mr. Abbott will concentrate on reducing indirect taxation this year. They base their view largely on the fact that the major reductions last year were in the income-tax field.

Unofficial sources forecast Mr. Abbott may reduce the eight per cent sales tax and perhaps even remove it from some items. The 25 per cent tax on luxuries is considered another item which might be reduced.

This Is the Goal That Won Edmonton the Allan Cup

THIS IS IT, the championship goal, scored by "Handy Andy" Clivechok. The Flyers' trouble-shooter deluxe can be seen just at the right of Ottawa cage after he scored the rebound of "Bing" Merluk's hot drive. Merluk (17) is sprawled on the ice as is the partly-hidden Bobby Copp. Lude Check is the Ottawa forward who has come back just too late to clear the rebound and "Legs" Fraser, dumped off balance by Merluk's shot, is helpless to do anything about anything.—Photo by Bland.

President Truman Seizes Railroads

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—President Truman today seized railroads of the United States.

There was no word from the three strike-threatening unions whether they would run the trains for the government. They have called a strike over wages and work rules for 8 a.m. (local railroad time) tomorrow.

The president signed a seizure order two minutes before noon, CDT, in an effort to bar a strike. The order places operation of the trains under direction of the United States army.

Truman appealed to all railroad workers to stay on their jobs. "I call upon every railroad worker to co-operate with the government by remaining on duty," the seizure statement said.

World Secrets Bared By Russian Espionage

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP)—It is highly probable that the "mass production" espionage systems of Russian intelligence have gleaned every aspect of atomic bomb production and behavior, Igor Gouzenko says in his new book "This Was My Choice" (N. M. Dent and Sons (Canada) Ltd.).

The Russians, he says, had detailed reports on the bomb and American production plans months before Hiroshima.

Speaking from experience as a cipher clerk at intelligence headquarters in Moscow, the man who touched off Canada's spy trials says:

"Often we would send out the same telegram to 20 or more agents in various parts of the world. One 'urgent' query asked for information on a certain alleged scientific innovation in the United States. It was highly technical. I remember the excitement aroused on either side by the results. Neither of two agents in the U.S. came through but complete and confidential information was received from agents in Canada and England."

"I doubt very much that any aspect of atomic bomb production or behavior unknown to the Soviet at present."

MANY NEW DISCLOSURES
Gouzenko's book heaps new disclosures on the many he has bared since the September night 1945 when he fled the Soviet embassy in Ottawa.

Jerusalem To Fly Red Cross Flag

"Truce of God" Agreement Reported for Holy City

By Leo Turner
JERUSALEM, May 10.—(BUP)—Jewish forces won important victories in Palestine fighting today while the International Red Cross announced tentative agreement for a "Truce of God" for Jerusalem.

These were the developments a little more than four days remained before the Holy City lay down their mandate over the Holy Land at midnight May 14.

Jewish Hagana fighters seemed near complete victory in a fierce battle to clear the Jerusalem Tel Aviv highway of a 600-foot solid stone "road-block" between Wad, 12 miles west of Jerusalem. Arab forces defending the road-block were reported falling back before more than 2,000 tough Hagana men.

2. Arabs officially announced at Beirut and Damascus that artillery-supported Hagana troops had captured Safad, key city of North Palestine, after 10 days of fighting. The city fell early today, an Arab communiqué said.

3. Jacques De Reynier, international Red Cross representative in Jerusalem, announced that Arab Jewish leaders had agreed orally to a plan which would make the Holy City virtually a hospital in the midst of warfare. The city would be demilitarized, and the Red Cross would supervise it temporarily. He said written agreement on the peace plan was expected within 48 hours.

CALGARY, May 10.—(CP)—Beulah Steer, 10, was suffocated in her bed, her mother said, by a 12-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cuddie, 27, who died in her bed by her parents yesterday.

Home Was Like a Barn

Criticism of conditions prevailing at the Cromdale home for children was not exaggerated in the Whitton report on child welfare operations in the province.

This evidence was given by Ald. H. E. Tanner and former Ald. J. R. Munro when sittings of the child welfare commission enquiring into child welfare operations in the province resumed sittings at the court house here today.

Sittings of the commission were suspended nine weeks ago when Ald. Tanner, who had been chairman, entered hospital with a heart condition.

Crown Charges Theft Only Murder Motive

CALGARY, May 10.—(CP)—Robbery was the only possible motive for the June 25 murder of Mah Kuo Wing, crown prosecutor C. S. Blanchard, said in his jury address in supreme court today as the trial of 20-year-old Bernice Dubensky, charged with the murder, moved to a close.

The case is expected to be handed to the jury late today.

The crown called 45 witnesses during the trial which began May 5, and entered a total of 82 exhibits. No defence witnesses were called.

Blanchard said he held "no brief" for the crown's chief witness, Melville Snyder Simpson, 64, of Calgary, who testified he had been living with Miss Dubensky and that she had told him (Simpson) that she had killed Chinese sailors.

"His conduct in holding over the head of accused the threat of exposure to the police can only bring contempt and indignation from any decent man," Mr. Blanchard said. However, he added that Simpson's evidence must be given full consideration and that it would be difficult for any man to concoct "such a story."

The prosecutor reminded the jury that Simpson had said Miss Dubensky told Simpson she had killed May King, who had told Simpson of hitting the tailor on the head with a hammer and a knife. King's knife and hammer allegedly belonging to the dead man had been found in her possession.

The 45th and last witness to be called by the crown during the week-long trial, was Sgt. Hubert Radcliffe, of the RCMP, who testified that he had given a handwriting expert, Sgt. Radcliffe, said in his opinion a series of anonymous letters written to police following the murder were in the handwriting of the accused.

The letters were purportedly written by a returned serviceman who claimed responsibility for murder and challenged police to hunt him down.

Little Bobby Johnson Is Flyers' Inspiration

Besides their great desire to win the Allan Cup at any cost, the Edmonton Flyers had a more concrete, human inspiration when they skated onto the ice at Calgary's Victoria Arena Saturday night.

They were all out "to win for Bobby."

Bobby is the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Johnson of 12069 94 street, who has been a patient in Calgary's sick children's hospital for the past month, the victim of a strange malady that kept him in a cast for four months.

Friday afternoon members of the Flyers' team, led by Harvey "Pug" Young, tramped to the Calgary hospital in a body to visit young Bobby.

After an hour-long visit the team moved out slowly, misty-eyed and determined.

"Well fellows, let's get this thing over with and win this for Bobby," was the unanimous thought of all the Flyers. Needless to say they did just that.

And there was never a happier boy in Calgary than young Bobby.

Doctors as yet have been unable to diagnose the youngster's malady. Four months ago he was stricken and since then he has been on crutches until hospitalized.

Hospital attendants said they could "hardly contain" the youngster after Andy Clovechok fired the game-winning marker Saturday to clinch the Allan Cup for the Flyers.

CITY POLICE PATROL WAGON TAKES A ROLL

The police patrol wagon was thrown for a loss Sunday about 6 p.m.

Driver John Musa was traveling north on 97 street and when just coming out of the subway at 104 avenue a child ran out on the road in front of the vehicle.

Musa escaped injuries but the patrol wagon will be out of commission for a short time.

City Power Output Shows Big Increase

Edmonton's power production increased by 10.4 per cent during the first four months of this year compared with the same period in 1947.

Production for the 1948 period was 56,599,100 kilowatt hours compared with 45,843,700 for the first four months of last year, an increase of 4,755,400 kilowatt hours.

In the first four months of last year 37,341,300 kilowatt hours were taken by the electric light and power department, 5,621,500 by the transit system, and 2,880,900 by the pumping station.

Burglars Foiled In Safe-Cracking

Week-End Loot Includes $250 Cash From Grocery

Safe-crackers failed in their attempt to open a safe at Lovesseth's garage, 106 street and Jasper avenue, during the week-end.

Sunday morning it was discovered that the dial had been knocked off the safe and an attempt had been made to blow the spindle apart.

Part of a detonator cap and a length of wire were found beside the safe.

Nothing is missing from the building which was entered by way of a window.

Several other break-ins were reported during the week-end. Total loot was $250 cash, three cartons cigarettes, two watches, a wedding ring, coat, lunch bucket and flashlight.

The $250 cigarettes, watches and wedding ring were stolen from Salvo's Grocery, 10334 102 avenue.

LURE OF LONDON drew English-born, homesick little Geoff Bouchard, four, and playmate Bert Myers, three, away from their Vancouver homes for five hours recently. The lads were bound for London which Geoff had left 15 months ago, but they only got six miles on the way before a cabbie spotted the pair on their trikes. "We were nearly there," laughed the youngsters when returned home.

JUST GOT GOING GOOD WHEN POLICE BUTT IN

... And a bunch of the girls were whooping it up!

Saturday night police were called to 106 avenue and 97 street where a gathering of women, many of whom were "a few over the eight" took umbrage at one another's remarks and launched a real Donnybrook.

Arrival of the police wagon found five persons milling about and shouting.

Lady (?) No. One had been attacked by two others. Husband came to defend wife. Boy friend of one of the other pair takes up cudgels against hubby, who is busy thumping one of the attackers of his wife.

Combatants are separated, lectured and sent about their way, all swearing to lay charges against the others.
Police report no action taken to date!

Edmonton's Safety Council

A little more than a year ago the Edmonton Safety Council was organized in this community and in that time has made a notable contribution to the diminution of the incidence of accidents in factories, on the streets, on the farm and in the home.

The activities of the council have been widely educational. But many of its efforts have been practical and direct.

During last year a new and efficient type of reflector was made available to Edmonton cyclists—a device which outlines the bicycle in a manner that it makes it possible for an approaching motorist to see the kind of vehicle he is meeting or overtaking.

The courteous driver campaign conducted last summer was highly successful and a distinct improvement in driving standards was noted at its conclusion.

The council, therefore, in its one year of life has already become one of Edmonton's most useful institutions.

It is axiomatic that safety is secured by safety consciousness. That is to say, before accidents can be reduced to a minimum, everybody must acquire an instinctive sense of avoiding those things which increase hazard.

Any safety campaign, then, depends ultimately upon the number of those who can be persuaded to play an intimate and personal part in it.

For that reason, every Edmonton citizen should be a member of the Edmonton Safety Council.

Maximum safety can only be attained when a maximum number of people are thinking about it and applying themselves to securing it.

The Art of Knowing How to Win

The sensational and heartening victory of the Edmonton Flyers in their effort to win the Allan Cup is gratefully and enthusiastically applauded by every person in this community.

It is a gallant achievement.

But it should be remembered that it has far wider implications than a mere sports accomplishment, no matter how important such accomplishments may be.

It is symbolic of a new spirit in Edmonton, a new determination, a new sense of civic pride that will not permit the people of this district to take second place to any community in Canada.

This new spirit is evident everywhere, in the way people speak and think of Edmonton and in their demands for streets and services and parks comparable to any in the Dominion.

In a sports story the other day Stan Mohr wrote of the faculty of "knowing how to win", the factor that would put the Flyers in the lead. It is a significant and meaningful phrase because it indicates a state of mind that will not be terrified of impossibilities nor acknowledge defeat.

It is the state of mind that gave the Flyers the leadership in amateur hockey in Canada. It is the state of mind that can make Edmonton one of the great cities of this continent.

The Danger in Russian Communism

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Great Britain has put his finger on the real menace of Communism by saying that so long as the Russian policy aims at spreading Communist ideology there is little chance of co-operation with the Soviets.

In short, as Mr. Bevin emphasizes, it is the passion for proselytization that makes Communism dangerous rather than any iniquity inherent in the doctrine itself.

It is important that this fact be made abundantly clear because a great deal of the opposition to Communism is based on an effort to pick the system itself to pieces, an endeavor that never can be satisfactorily and conclusively carried out for lack of sufficient information.

It is stupid, then, to argue that Communism is evil because it is ruining Russia. We have no accurate information that Communism is ruining Russia. As a matter of fact, it may be good thing for Russia. Certainly something built up Russian fighting power between the two world wars.

The true evil in Communism is its intrinsic demand that all nations adopt it.

It is iniquitous because it abolishes freedom of choice.

There is a close parallel in history in this respect between modern Communism and medieval Islam when fanatic Moslems demanded that all the world accept the Prophet or be put to the sword.

There are many beautiful and splendid things in the Moslem religion. But in those dark days it became a world menace because of its bloody intolerance.

Similarly, there may be many fine conceptions and ideals in Communism. But it is a menace because of its insistence on covering the world.

Strip tease girls in New Orleans night clubs must wear "panties," a fringe and a brassiere, which is not much more than they would wear on the bathing beaches.

The massive irony of Mr. Churchill, remembered so well in war-time, turned with his observation that the Labor government has made "a definite contribution to the loss by Great Britain of her place in the world."

Charges Vacillation in Partition of Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y.—It is now two weeks since the United Nations met in Special Assembly to deal with the U.N. proposals for a changed policy in Palestine. While the delegates have been literally talking around in circles, an actual war is being fought in Palestine itself.

As the British are pulling their troops out of place after place, neither the Jews or the Arabs are taking over. PHILPOTT has been in Palestine since the settlement of November 29 is being vindicated by events.

I have seen some queer political maneuvering since I began newspaper work soon after World War One. But I have never seen anything more peculiar than the tactics of the United States Department at this special session.

Here are the facts: The United States in 1947 was the most influential nation on the side of the partition of Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab states. Due to that support, the partition plan was passed by the UN Assembly by more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

Changed View Of Partition

For reasons which are not clear, the United States later on changed its mind about partition. It set aside the November 29 settlement to summon this special Assembly so that it would tell the other nations why the partition plan should be abandoned, at least for the time being. Although the United States has never been candid or specific on its new policies, the general idea is that Palestine would continue to be governed by outsiders, as it was governed by the British from 1917. But instead of being a sole British responsibility there would be a "responsible" trusteeship. There would be a governor appointed by the UN. He would have, in effect, dictatorial powers.

Certain specified members of UN would be named in advance as "responsible" for supplying whatever armed force was necessary to keep the peace. The U.S., Britain and France were suggested as the proper authorities.

That is just another way of saying that, since November, 1947, the U.S. had made a complete somersault on the question of Palestine. Instead of partition, it was now a trusteeship. It was a very type of government which the British have been trying to do since 1917. But under the new U.S. plan, instead of Britain being alone responsible, several have, in effect, dictatorial powers.

Refused To Abandon It

The new U.S. plan immediately ran into opposition from many corners. Even before the Special Assembly opened the Australians, New Zealanders, some Latin Americans, several Western Europeans, and Scandinavians had indicated that they saw no reason to abandon the plan of partition that had been worked out last year.

Then the United States has been forced to do all sorts of wire pulling even to get this changed policy. At all costs the U.S. has had to avoid a straight vote on the question, "should the UN stick to its decision of last November or abandon that decision and do something else?"

The U.S. avoided a straight vote at the opening meeting of the full Assembly by having "the full Assembly by the whole question of Palestine to the Political Committee. The Political Committee met, the U.S. repeated what it proposed that Committee No. 1 should refer the so-called U.S. working paper on Palestine to Committee Number 4. But all this was done to avoid anything having a chance to vote—the UN going forward issue—is the UN going to stick to its decision of last year or not?

All this would be really funny if it were not for the fact that it is in Palestine. For that war is the direct result of the fact that the big powers that run through the UN decision of last year would neither back it up themselves, nor would they stand aside and let the little powers do so.

Young Children And Bus Seats

Editor, Bulletin—Yesterday, travelling on a Bonnie Dean bus a woman with a child, aged 3 or 4, occupied a double seat, and, as the bus filled, made no attempt to move the child for anyone standing.

Then an elderly lady got on, walked up to this seat expecting the child to be moved onto the mother's lap but the so-called lady (I thought of her as something else), deliberately turned her head to stare out of the window, pretending she didn't see the standing woman.

This selfish behavior can be stopped. To make this suggestion on the ceiling of the bus, in bold print, there should be a notice entitling any standing person to demand that the child vacate the seat.

During rush hours all children under 6 years must not occupy any seat that can be claimed by a standing passenger.

ment has taken on the threat of Communism?

Then you must be 1. fostering left sublimations or 2. insulting the intelligence of what few intelligent readers you have left. Anyone who makes a critical analysis of Philpott's works can easily puncture them and see them for what they really are—pro-Stalinist propaganda. It is as if an article was lifted from the pages of Pravda and translated into the pages of The Bulletin.

Gentlemen! The time has come when we must do away with this self-complacent, halfhearted attitude on an issue that threatens to become every bit as dangerous as Nazism ever was, and it is not your credit that you allow such a biased writer to spread his subversive propaganda with the help of your columns. It is really a disgrace to the totalitarian principles which form the bulwark of your own newspaper.

It is not important that I sign my name to this letter. It is important that you realize that there are many who feel as I do and deeply resent your action. UNIVERSITY STUDENT EDMONTON.

Both Sides Of Question

Editor, Bulletin—A few weeks ago a letter or two appeared in your columns asking that articles by Elmore Philpott be reintroduced. One letter at least suggested that readers should be allowed to see both sides of a question and reach their own conclusion. This objective is admittedly admirable, but Philpott does not give a side of the question that is worthy of consideration and it is claimed that life is too short to go on reading such material.

In Philpott's article which appeared in The Edmonton Bulletin dated May 5, he states, "I have always felt that the United Nations was a terrible and even tragic mistake when they picked up the mantle of the League of Nations as the world capital."

He thinks the nations now would have chosen any place but the U.S.A. Again: "How wrong we were back in 1945 when we went to San Francisco, wondering whether the United States Senate would do to the UN what it did to the League of Nations."

Memory tells me that in 1945 the danger that the U.S.A. would turn isolationist was exceedingly real, and this was proved in March, 1946, during the first sitting (in London) of the Security Council when Bevin stood alone against the demands of Russia for concessions in the Dardanelles and colonies (which means military bases) in North Africa.

Onerous Trials Of a Columnist

A high school boy who gets top marks in composition, writes for some advice about the newspaper business and says it must be swell to be a columnist. So it is, Paul. But I can't tell all the fun, if you want to go into this thing, do so with your eyes wide open.

The first thing you should know is that it isn't an honest job. You'll get no satisfaction from it. I guess I've written night onto two thousand columns and never once felt any satisfaction. I sense of conquest I get in papering a room, or making a stand and never stir, back from the cleaning out a drain pipe so that the water comes rushing through.

You never stir, back from the cleaning out a drain pipe so that the water comes rushing through. You never stir, back from the cleaning out a drain pipe so that the water comes rushing through.

This isn't entirely your own fault, Paul. Mainly it's because you're in such a terrible rush. Sometimes it seems that you're just putting the "30" mark on to just batch of new laid words before you have to start sitting on the next.

This doesn't make much difference to the people who read your stuff, in any case, but it does make a difference to you, because there are many days when you will write three to five hours to write it, and even then you may just feel it all up and get a walk and get so that your family hates the sight of your nasty face.

And sometimes you will get into slumps like a baseball pitcher and you say to yourself that you will never pitch a no-hit game ever again. This happens about once a month, like a recurring Charlie Horse, and you are never sure if you are going to come out of it. You are usually going to come out of it.

And you are so sure you are writing the paper that you demand a raise in your salary so they won't realize it.

Job Proposes Some Problems

It is only fair to tell you, Paul, that the column will change your personality. You are expected to have some pretty definite opinions and this calls for a good deal of will power. You want to be forceful about these opinions, but you don't want to end up looking like a cartoon character with a small hatchet in your hand.

This is particularly perplexing if you are a fellow who just likes to sit in the sun, tilted back in a cabaret chair, with the flies buzzing around your head.

This problem is toughest in meeting new people since they expect you to be intense, to come out with a bang, to be a bit of a brute who will agree with almost anything.

Then, again, Paul, there are

JALOPY ADOPTS SUBMARINE ROLE

ATHOL SPRINGS, N.Y., May 10.—(AP)—Paul Carpenter, an ice fisherman who lost his jalopy about three months ago when it disappeared through Lake Erie ice has got the car back.

Carpenter was asked Saturday to claim his car after state troopers found it on the beach. Troopers said the stripped 1929 model rolled a half mile along the lake bottom towards the shore and shifted a quarter mile along the water's edge. When found the car was in about six inches of water. Friends helped Carpenter pull the car to a garage to be dried out.

Heavy Korean Vote Despite Bloodshed

SEOUL, May 10.—(AP)—United States-occupied South Korea voted heavily in a Russian-boycotted self-rule election today despite week end violence and sabotage with a Communist imprimatur which cost 73 lives.

Two Koreans were slain in Seoul today and United States army reports indicated at least 20 others were killed elsewhere in sporadic outbreaks. News snipping interrupted communications from outlying districts.

The long-awaited election gave the people the chance to help choose the first popularly-elected government of this ancient and troubled land of the morning calm. Even though the balloting proceeded with comparative quiet, Seoul uneasily awaited the close of the 12-hour election. News was feared tonight at ballot boxes are carried to central points to be counted.

2 Loggers Die, Others Scorched in B.C. Fire

VICTORIA, May 10.—(CP)—A dozen scorched and singed loggers last night credited a man known only as "Shorty" for saving the lives of 65 millworkers trapped Saturday in a bunkhouse blaze at Youbou, B.C., 50 miles northwest of here.

The mushroom fire claimed two lives, injured a score of loggers, and leveled one wing of the $40,000 hut on the British Columbia Forest Products timber tract.

The loggers, who fled half-clothed and naked from the bunkhouse inferno, said "Shorty," carrying two suitcases, raced along the flame-wreathed corridors arousing the 65 men asleep in the hut. Millworkers could not identify him.

DEAD IDENTIFIED

Dead are Roger Geavin, 24, Vancouver, and Joseph Szolnaki, age unknown. Hospital authorities at Duncan, B.C., said last night the injured were progressing "fairly well."

Eye witness accounts told the story of the naked men crashing through closed windows to safety.

Most of the loggers were scorched, others suffered severe facial and hand cuts and wrenched backs in their flight to safety. W. Monych, a deaf-mute, escaped by leaping through a window taking the entire window frame with him. He suffered cuts and other injuries.

Bush Warriors To Get Distinction

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP)—A distinctive armband soon will be issued to the Canadian Rangers, the corps of trappers, woodsmen and farmers who form the army's reserve in the Canadian backwoods. On the armband is a green shield bearing three red maple leaves superimposed on a crossed rifle and axe.

Packing Workers To Meet In Calgary

CALGARY, May 10.—(CP)—The 1948 wage policy of Canadian packinghouse workers will be decided at a conference of 60 delegates from all sections of the Dominion here May 10 to 12. Alex McWhinnie, organizer for the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), announced Saturday.

PERCY THE PELICAN JUST LAUGHS AT COPS

BRADFORD, Somerset, England, May 10.—(AP)—Percy the Pelican laughed off a good try by the local cops yesterday and headed west. They never touched him.

When last seen Percy was over Frome in Somerset county, a good hundred miles from London where he escaped from a Zoo Thursday.

Percy had a flock of crows for escort and was making good time.

The Whipnade Zoo has been snowed under by calls from persons who claim they have seen the pelican in widely separated parts of England.

But it really was Percy who was sighted by a farmer in a field between here and Towbridge yesterday.

Police armed with nets answered the farmer's call. Percy watched with interest until they got within 150 feet, whereupon he took wing.

And is still going, the cops figure.

Indians Don't Want to Vote

REGINA, May 10.—(CP)—The Union of Saskatchewan Indians said Sunday Indians in the province did not want general voting privileges.

"Any political party that believes it will gain advantage by offering to the franchise is very much mistaken," a spokesman for the union said, commenting on an Ottawa announcement that a Joint Senate-Commons committee had voted in favor of granting Indians the franchise on the same terms as urban residents.

"The only vote we want is a vote to decide who our Indian agents will be," the spokesman said.

"We wish to remain as Indians and to preserve our identity and our ways. After we have become adequately educated and have learned to govern ourselves locally, we will be glad to take part in the white man's politics."

The union said Indians first wanted to run their own affairs on the reservation, which they had never been allowed to do.

"The vote is the white man's edge of the wedge to take from our remaining privileges."

Rural Electric Work Starts Soon

Construction In Lacombe Area To Get Under Way About July 1

LACOMBE, May 10.—Construction work on rural electrification power lines to the east of Lacombe will get under way before July 1, P. T. Gale, rural electrification supervisor for the Calgary Power Company told a meeting at Lakeside Hall late last week.

Electric power will be brought to over 200 farms in the Lacombe rural electrification association area, and close to 50 miles of new power line will have to be built to carry the current to the area.

Mr. Gale stated that the likelihood of completing the work this year was remote. Material shortages and possible labor shortages make it impossible to make an accurate forecast on the progress which might be made this year. Surveys have already completed surveying and laying out fourteen miles of the power line right-of-way. As soon as weather conditions permit, the crews will continue the surveying work.

Prior to the general meeting held at Lakeside Hall, directors discussed the terms of the construction contract. The contract also took place on the responsibility for pole hole digging, and brushing along the right-of-way.

John Henderson of Lacombe is operator. Norman Brooks, Lacombe is secretary-treasurer. Directors include J. H. Riley, J. H. Williams and J. Robinson, all of Clive; and O. D. Harrington, of Rimbey.

F. J. Fitzpatrick, supervisor of co-operative work for the provincial government attended the meeting to give advice to the co-op directors.

REGINA, May 10.—(CP)—Senator John Frederick Johnston, 71, died here at 11:20 a.m., MDT, yesterday, shortly after his admission to hospital. A heart ailment was believed the cause of death.

He was admitted to hospital early yesterday after he had complained of feeling ill while being driven to catch a train for his birthday party. He had spent the night at the home of his nephew, R. L. Bishop Of Calgary Confirms Twenty ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, May 10.—The Bishop of Calgary confirmed twenty candidates in the Holy Trinity church here Thursday. The ceremony was arranged for last Sunday, but owing to floods the bishop was not able to get here. He arrived by car driving through half a mile of water that overflowed onto the highway 25 miles east of town on the Heppner flats. The Bishop addressed the candidates at the service, and also congratulated the officers and congregation on the rapid progress made in the parish since his last visit a year ago.

On behalf of the Synod Executive and the Anglican Advance Appeal the Bishop presented the flag of St. George, the official flag of England and dedicated it at the altar, at the same time expressing the thanks of the executive to the congregation for having raised its full quota of $200.00 towards the appeal. The Bishop left Calgary Sunday for England, to attend the Lambeth Conference.

Old-Time Ferries May Re-Appear

ROSALIND, May 10.—Water rose to the floor of Coal Valley bridge at the rate of an inch per hour for several days past week. The Edberg bridge was washed out and sections of it have been anchored at the Arnold Anderson ranch.

A crew worked all Wednesday anchoring the Ferry Point bridge with cable to prevent it from being swept away.

Who knows but that the old time ferry which once plied across the river to their interested grandchildren may look pretty good to us yet?

Winter Takes Toll Of Rocky Horses

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, May 10.—Horses turned out for the winter, as most pack horses and ranchers' horses are, have had the worst winter on record.

A drove of 30 pack horses came through town Friday on route west from where they had wintered north of town, and they were the scariest animals ever seen here, so thin that one could not guess what held them together and like skeletons with matted hides draped over them. Whether they would live to plod 30 miles west or not was doubtful. The farm horses, thin, but not like the pack horses that have been out.

Edmonton Joins Roll Of Allan Cup Champs

The Allan Cup, which the Victorious Flyers brought to Edmonton for the first time in its history, was donated by Sir H. Montague Allan CVO, in 1908.

The cup was first donated to the Victoria Hockey Club of Montreal.

Originally intended to be a challenge award, its purpose was changed when it became apparent it would be impossible to handle all the prospective challengers.

Elimination series were finally hit upon as the proper method for correcting this situation.

Since 1909, the cup has been won by eastern clubs 21 times, and by western clubs on 18 occasions.

VICTORIES ON FOREIGN ICE PAID BIG DIVIDENDS

Grit and Fighting Spirit Carried Flyers Over Rough Spots on Allan Cup Trail

By STAN MOHER

It was fitting that Flyers should stage a great comeback for victory in the game that finally put them over for the Allan Cup.

When Bill Maher, Andy Clouchechok (2) and Freddy Smiten came through with the goals that overcame the 3-1 edge which the frantic Senators had built up in the first 30 minutes of play in Calgary Saturday, they were but following a familiar Flyer pattern.

There were any number of spots along the way where the locals got the jump on playoff opponents through sheer grit and determination.

To start the Western Canada League saw-offs Coach Currie's gang headed into Regina and turned back the ambitious Cape

3-2. The Regins never really recovered from this unexpected reverse.

True, the Capitals squared the series by coping the next game, but the confidence built up as a consequence of that opening triumph right in Queen City Gardens, clung to Flyers throughout the remainder of the set-to.

They ran into one or two more tight situations before disposing of Joe Fisher's aggregation. But they had what it took to roar through for two straight triumphs on Edmonton ice and a 3-1 margin of victory in games.

And so to the league finals against Calgary Stampede. Allan Cup holders two years ago finalists last season.

The Flyers were away to an in-suspicious start when handed a 4-0 drubbing by the southern Albertans in the 1st-lifter. To add to their pain the second game also was scheduled for Victoria Arena.

How did Gordon Watt and his mates meet this challenge? Simply by going out and knocking off Stampede's 3-2.

Returning to Edmonton the teams played a 3-3 draw in the third contest and Flyers swept the fore with a 6-3 victory in game No. 4. Down to Calgary again. Once more Flyers turned in a win on foreign ice and they headed back to Edmonton and a 5-2 scuffling of the one-time Canadian Kings to put the wrap on the series in six games.

Then and there the Edmonton squad won its first league crown in three seasons of trying.

Trail Smoke Eaters failed to offer much quarrel as the Allan Cup trail proper came underfoot. The kings of the West Kootenays went under in four-straight fashion. Nevertheless in the game that inaugurated the series it took a third period uprising to put the decision on ice.

Next stop Winnipeg. That was the series that produced the laudest rhubarb anywhere along the trail. The opening game proved to be a chippy exhibition, with Flyers going under by a 2-0 score to a scumbly aggression that went by the name of Reos.

Following the joust, sportswriters and fans in the Manitoba capital were loud in their denunciation of the brand of puckchasing served up by the seniors.

The term 'hoodlums' was hung on certain of the Flyers by a veteran sportswriter who should have known better. In a city notoriously pro-junior the hue and cry of the critics lasted right up until the time when Flyers walloped Reos by 8-4 in the second game.

In Saskatoon, Flyers racked up a 7-3 victory in another of those 'crucial' meetings.

On Edmonton ice Reos proved to be soft touches. It was all over in five games. By now the Allan Cup finals had been reached.

All the while Ottawa Senators had been gradually coming to the fore as the most likely team to represent the east. After a tough series with Hamilton's 'Tattered Tabbies' the barber-poles from the Canadian capital finally earned the right to come west for a crack at the Flyers.

The history of that now famous meeting needs little recounting. Suffice to say the Flyers, showing scant regard for the impressive record of Senators, best the stuffings out of the easterners in the opening games, played on Regina ice.

It was but a repetition of what was by now a well established way of going in the Edmonton camp. The locals were winning the town ones, the ones played away from home.

Senators made it rough by taking the second encounter at the Arena, final score being 3-2. They paid dearly for their temerity. Flyers stormed back for a 7-0 triumph in the third contest and went ahead three games to one off a 5-3 conquest of the easterners in the fourth game.

All this moved the calendar along to Saturday night. Once more the Curriemen ran into a threatened blind switch. But as always when the going was roughest there was no denying Flyers a victory.

That third period uprising, once opportunity beckoned, had the old familiar look.

Good clubs have always been able to get up off the deck. Many times along the way Flyers demonstrated this ability. In the end it paid rich dividends.

CONGRATULATIONS BOYS!

Speculation Rife On Coming Budget

Abbott Expected to Give Presentation Date This Week

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP).—Sometime this week Finance Minister Abbott is expected to tell Commons what day he will bring down the budget. It likely will be within the next two weeks.

By the moment, you can take your pick of the dates now being talked about in Parliament Hill: Thursday, May 13; Tuesday, May 18; or Thursday, May 20. To most observers, the choice seems to be between May 13 and May 18. As in recent years, the budget likely will be brought down at the evening sitting.

ONE MAIN QUESTION

More important than the budget date is the question: What it will contain? Until Abbott reads the speech to Commons, its contents are a closely-guarded secret. But up to that moment the field of speculation is wide open.

Current talk on budget possibilities seems to centre on one main question: Income tax cuts or indirect tax cuts?

Certainly, some say, the government cannot get by without making some fairly substantial reductions, especially in view of the country's healthy internal financial condition. The financial accounting for the 1947-48 fiscal year, which ended March 31, won't be known until budget night, but best estimates now available indicate a surplus of $800,000,000. This would be the greatest surplus in Canadian history. The 1946-47 surplus was $250,000,000.

INDIRECT TAX CUT

Abbott might reduce the consumption tax—perhaps even remove it from some items, sources estimate that it has tax which applies at the manufacturer's level, is reduced to four per cent, it will mean a drop of 10 per cent in the retail price of goods affected.

The 25-per-cent tax on tobacco and other excise duties would also be a change along with other indirect taxes applying on cigarettes, amusements, soft drinks and other items.

J. E. Atkinson, Publisher Dies

TORONTO, May 10.—(CP).—Joseph E. Atkinson, who built two of Canada's most successful newspapers in a publishing career of more than half a century, died Saturday at the age of 70.

The wealthy newspaperman had been at his office daily until a few days ago, keeping closely in touch with his newspaper, the Daily Star and the Star Weekly. He died of a heart condition from which he had suffered in recent years.

A publishing genius, he took the Toronto Star in 1909 when it was a morning paper of 1,000 circulation and made it Canada's biggest and wealthiest newspaper with a circulation of more than 200,000. He founded the equally-successful Star Weekly which now, in its 20th year, has a circulation of 100,000.

PAPERS TO CHARITY

Following upon the death of Mr. Atkinson the Toronto Star prints the following announcement which is one of the most unusual in newspaper history.

The Star and the Star Weekly are bequeathed to a foundation—the Atkinson Charitable Foundation, which will operate their copies as a library.

On Ontario's 100th anniversary, the Star and the Star Weekly will be the first to be printed in the province.

IT COULD BE—A FISH STORY

SEBAGO LAKE, Me., May 10.—(AP).—There's nothing to fishing when the fish cooperate, says Ernie Tucker of Beverly, Mass.

Tucker, an outdoor sports writer, related that while fishing here recently, a three-pound landlocked salmon he was playing was pushed in by a 10-pounder which then leaped into his boat.

Wooden Shoes Identify Group

By MARILYN LAMBORN
TORONTO, May 10.—(CP).—The big white identification cards weren't necessary. The blonde heads, ruddy complexions and wooden shoes were enough to identify the tired, but excited group of persons crowded in Union station Saturday morning as Dutch immigrants anxious to start a new life on Ontario farms.

Family life dominated the scene with sometimes more than 10 fair-haired children following their parents into the station to receive coffee and cookies from the Red Cross of the 300 who arrived here as part of the three immigration scheme 175 were children.

SPECIAL TRAIN

A trans-Canada special train which started out with 400 Hollanders stopped here to let out the 300 for Ontario. The remainder continued to western Ontario.

A popular spot in the station was the nursery, where about 15 young-looking babies chewed their toes in photographs. While one-month-old baby girl slept through all the excitement, her big brother of five stood guard as he clung around the basket in pointed wooden shoes. On hand to welcome the group was H. P. Van Gelder, consul of The Netherlands in Toronto.

Woman Battles Bull, Saves Husband's Life

METAMORA, Ill., May 10.—(AP).—A diminutive farm wife battled an enraged bull for almost two hours Saturday to save her husband's life.

The husband, Charles J. Jangier, is now in hospital suffering from a fractured right leg and right wrist. His wife, Emma, 39, is under treatment at her home suffering from a fractured neck as a result of her fight with the bull.

The fight began when the bull, a 1,200-lb. animal, charged at the woman as she was milking the cow. She was thrown to the ground and the bull stood over her for some time.

Neighbors arrived and helped pull the woman from under the bull. She was taken to the hospital where she is now recovering from her injuries.

Russ-U.S. Break Feared

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP).—A congressional committee said today it believes the Soviet Union now may be willing to risk a break with the United States.

To forestall such a "rash decision" Russian leaders, the house of representatives committee said, should strengthen its ground and air forces through a manpower bill.

A group of air force is not a substitute for selective service. Both the senate and house have approved expanding the air arm by 55 to 70 groups over the next five years. But as yet they have taken no action on President Truman's request for a temporary and universal military training bill.

The house groups formal request by a sitting dissent. The bill was passed by the house on May 7.

Clavechok Lives Up To 'Handy Andy' Tag

Scores Three In Edmonton Cup Conquest

At the time Senators were leading 2-2, Clavechok, who had been the balance of the game looked like money in the bank.

However, Irvine injected himself into the picture as Emberg's champion. He called Young a "meathead" and the hairy flyer, who in the penalty box, reached out for Irvine, sank him in beside him and the pair promptly fell to the floor in a fast-moving duel.

When they were pried apart finally Irvine was assessed a major penalty. The edge in, however, halting the scoring of Young's minor, saving the way of Flyers, in a three shot, hot-headed Ottawa star had thrown away the big advantage.

With Irvine going a Senator machine that was beginning to wobble even before the outbreak folded completely. At this point Clavechok, who had mounted a Flyers' offensive, came in to high 7 tied by Emberg's Doug Anderson and King Veris, the first period screened 35-foot drive past 'Legs' Fraser to tie the count at 15-10. Three minutes later he was back to punch home the rebound of a close-in drive following a great rush by Veris.

That was the goal which brought the Allan Cup to Edmonton. Just about this time several hundred Flyers followers went stark mad at the unexpected turn of events, help unloading the penalty box, another lift when Freddy Smith made it 3-2 just 28 seconds from cup as his slow drive along the inside close to the center line found a way to the Ottawa cage.

Ludo Clavechok, with a number of goals and Emberg's off a snafu, were the cause of a 3-1 margin which the Flyers held up.

An opportune tally by Bill Maher, second from the end of the second stanza cut the Senator margin to 2-2.

The eastern kings, with the aid of some enterprising huckstering, were still skillfully purchasing their lead when the Young-Emberg fight situation cropped up. What happened then is history.

MOB SCENE

At the final whistle one of the biggest mob scenes in the history of Victoria Arena ensued. Dozens of young fans swarmed over the dasher in quest of the prized sticks for which Flyers and Senators had no further use. The older fans followed the lead of the youngsters. Some of the mob was a seething mass of shrieking humanity.

Senators and Senators shook hands, all bitterness forgotten now that a victory had been declared.

Box, P. McDonald, president of the Western Canada League, presented the Allan Cup to Gordon Watt, Flyers captain. The circuit head was lavish in his praise of the champions of his league.

Last act in Victoria Arena was played out in the dressing quarters of the victorious kings. Well wishers crowded in until there was hardly room to kneel. They were the Allan Cup winners, the Flyers and Senators, who had won the Allan Cup and Calgary Stampeder stars Bob Brownridge and Dunc Grant.

After the offer of champagne, Art Potter, president of the Edmonton District Hockey Association, presented the trophy to the Flyers, Fred Kemp and Gordon McDonald, chairman of the Flyers hockey committee.

As well, Jim McCaffrey, personal manager of Senators, wasted little time reaching the side of Frank Currie, Flyers coach. Later he told listeners that "the better time for 42 men who have no regrets." He also expressed his appreciation of the "many kind wishes" of the Ottawa party while in the west.

And while all this went on photographers battled for vantage points, members of the victorious Flyers said their pieces "on the air," the city thrived.

For sure there was no gloom in that Flyers room. At home last night, 42 men who have no regrets, the city thrived.

British Columbia Air Kayoes Prairie Kings

VANCOUVER, May 10. — (CP) — Four bewildered amateur boxing kinglys and 20 other fistic novices from the Prairie Provinces today are pondering the reputed vitalizing content of British Columbia air.

The B.C. pugilists Saturday night looked, jaded and right-crossed their way to victory over the 24 novices from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. In seven of the eight fights the novices of the Western Canadian diamond belt boxing club lost.

It must have been a cruel blow for the novices, who had been in the game for a long time. The novices were from heavyweights Adam Paul, Don Smith, and lightweights from Regina, who won by default from Bill Miller, Kansas.

Rosar Thinks Hurlers "Make" the Catchers

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. — (AP) — "It takes a good pitcher to make a good catcher, make no mistake about that," says the usually reticent Warren (Buddy) Rosar, top receiver for the Philadelphia Athletics.

"What's the use of kidding," said Rosar. "The smartest catcher in the world can't bring the ball up to the plate in the right spot. Sure we can call for the right pitch and get the glove up as a target, but it's the pitcher who has to wheel the ball to the hit."

Rosar, rated by many baseball experts as the best receiver in the game today, should know what he's talking about. He's handled the best and some of the worst pitchers in the history of the game.

Banks Outlines $1 Scheme; Highlands' President Wins

By DERT GREER

Golf is no longer a baby in Canada. It has grown into manhood and should be treated as such.

That was the thought left by Harold Banks, assistant secretary of the Canadian Golf Association, who was in Edmonton to "sell" the idea of a $1 levy on all active adult male golfers in an effort to put the sport on a sounder footing in the Dominion.

For years the RCGA and provincial associations have been operating on a shoestring, gambling on the weather and hoping to meet whatever expenses the finance committees and have a few dollars left over.

Mr. Banks' aide squeezed through with a narrow 21-point victory over representatives of Vice-Captain Hugh Miller to officially open the season at the Highlands course Sunday. It was one of the most successful openings in the club's history, with 120 members taking part in the annual event.

Other money courses were well filled on the first reasonably good weekend of the season.

'When You Say That, Smile'

The moral probably is: "Don't call 'Pug' Young a 'Meathead' . . . unless you smile." Dapper Jack Irvine made this mistake in Victoria Arena Saturday night and promptly the bottom fell out insofar as the already battered Allan Cup hopes of Ottawa Senators were concerned.

To that point late in the third period the easterners, their aspirations given a much needed shot in the arm by the return to action of Alex Smart and Ray Trainor, had Flyers dancing the tune. Smart proved to be a useful looking left-winger. Trainor, a fine blocker and hitter, added considerable strength to what had been a wobbly Ottawa rear-guard.

But all this mattered little as Andy Clovechok, a bench-warmer for a time last November, went to work following the major penalty dish out to the late Irvine. Of course Flyer pressure had been building up, particularly after the 10-minute mark had been reached. It's possible they might have snatched the chestnuts from the fire regardless of whether or not Irvine had elected to put his tongue to Young, already settled in the penalty box.

Fraser, because he never set eyes on the whistling puck until it was in the hatch behind him, had no chance on Clovechok's goal that made it 3-3. The winner, which followed quickly, was also scored by Clovechok. But it was "King" M. Mink, the man of many moods, who laid the groundwork.

Then came Freddy Smitten's insurance marker into a Fraser-vacated net. This was the last goal of a victorious eight-months quest for the Allan Cup.

The klaxon went, Edmonton had finally taken her place beside other Canadian cities as one of the great teams good enough to outlast all others for one season anyway.

Currie 'Coach of Year'

Obviously it was a great honor to which he had been a great season. So obviously the coach elected by the new Canadian senior champions as they rose from the basement of their own league to an Allan Cup triumph after 74 games will be the last to lead the team for some time to come.

For a time Flyers flourished. It might have been the presence on the squad of so many veterans. They needed time to get their legs in shape, particularly in the early days of the season. On the whole, however, the team was a credit to the city.

Whatever the reasons they made little headway over the first 10 games. Then order came out of chaos. Which, of course, brings up the matter of coach Frank Currie and the part he played in the success of the team.

Just what makes a good hockey leader has never been well defined. From observation we have decided there are several different roads a coach can follow to the top.

Currie was no driver. Neither did he employ such fairly standardized coaching props as the dressing room harangue and the after-practice chalk talk.

But he did take a group of 18 hockey players and install in them as harmonious a relationship as probably any team ever had. It was this one-fall, all-for-one spirit that was Flyers' most potent weapon on the playoff level.

It was this spirit that paid off for Frank Currie, that easily won for him, on the basis of results, the title: 'Coach of the year.'

It Was Largely a Team Triumph

In retrospect there was the consistently fine netminding of Al Rollins. 'Pug' Young and Gordon Watt came through with close to their best seasons to date. Bill Pettigrew (until unfortunate enough to break an ankle) was a valued member of the team. The play was 'Bud' MacPherson, going no where as a forward, who developed into a line defenceman, and Doug Lane, who returned from pro hockey to make a number of valued contributions in the role of pinch-hitter.

Up front the Morley Rimstad-Johnny Black-Hill Maher line, sparkling of the very best in the top of the line, was played well over most of the route. Doug Anderson, rookie-theater, was dropped in between a pair of ace-analysts, 'Bud' Merlik and Andy Clovechok, to come through.

There was the great defensive play of the Elmer Kreller-Freddy Smitten-Alex Fringlie trio. Louis Holmes and Gordon Buttery had their moments.

No Flyer success saga would be complete without mention of Trainer Doug Harris. And to complete the roster was young Bill Morrissey, stickboy-theater.

Because this is a time for back-slapping it looks like the spot to drop in a plug for Gordon McDonald and the members of his hockey committee which operated Flyers for the Edmonton Exhibition Association.

We seem to remember that they came in for plenty of criticism during the dark days. It seems only right that they now come in for a corresponding measure of praise.

So that's it. It's great to have to do with a winner. Also it's great that it's over. Eight months is a long time.

PUCK KINGS RETURN WITH "THE BACON"

By Dick Beddoes

The kings returned to this city's glad heart and home Sunday.

Coach Frank Currie carried the crown from a CPR coach early on the Sunday with a handful of hockey faithful on the premises. The real show comes tonight when a mammoth parade welcomes the emperors of the Dominion senior hockey world with the Allan Cup.

For the Flyers, idols of Edmonton fandom, steered the Ottawa Senators into the sale of defeat Saturday night. That outfit with its flame faces perched there on the principle they began to ascend eight months ago.

The prayer of fandom was answered. For 32 years they have waited and dreamed for an Allan Cup, and when at last the news was flashed to Edmonton Saturday night, perfectly normal people went into hockey hysteria.

In Calgary Mayor Harry Ainlay was transported to the heights with a crowd from the north. When Andy Clovechok whipped the fourth Flyer executive, retired to the common urge which turned all Edmonton to cheering.

And no mayor ever had greater cause for exulting. Not when his first Allan Cup in a general election.

There is poetic justice in sport and poetic justice rang the bell in the fifth Allan Cup classic. Andy Clovechok, who had the wolverine in his door after his indifferent play in the year, fired the Flyers to their final victory.

Recognition came a little late for Clovechok, but it must have been a great satisfaction to him none the less.

Now they can add another page to Edmonton's history. In the book which records the first Edmonton Flyers.

Greying Bill Tobin Likes Allan Cup Champions, Lanky Al Rollins . . .

By DICK BEDDOES

Bill Tobin likes the Edmonton Flyers.

But then so does everyone else in Edmonton when the Flyers make it to the top of the mountain.

The chief executive of the Chicago Black Hawks witnessed the Flyers make it to the top of the mountain Saturday. He arrived in 20 minutes Sunday on the second lot of the real estate company.

Tobin was accompanied by Cecil (Tiny) Thompson, head scout for the National Hockey League Hawks. The pair will leave for Moose Jaw at noon Monday after conferring with officials of the Edmonton Flyers and Westsaskiwans.

Tobin described the Saturday match as an "exciting game" with Edmonton demoralizing the Senators by their ability to carry the puck into the Ottawa zone.

Tribute to Currie

He said it was a great tribute to Frank Currie the way Flyers were kept keyed up over the long grind. "The problem with a long grind is that it's a long grind," he said. "You can't win the Allan Cup without emotional drive."

No stickouts

He liked Al Rollins, although claiming that no player in an Edmonton uniform stood out in the Saturday game.

"Rollins is a big, big, very fast and he stays on his feet," Chicago's hockey mogul said. "And he has the facility of controlling rebounds."

Thompson reiterated the Tobin opinion of him. Al, he should know. Tiny won the Vezina Trophy for outstanding goalkeeping in the NHL on four occasions while being pucks for Boston Bruins.

Both men expressed the belief that the Flyers should be close to winning the senior and junior teams in the west. "If these senior leagues are to have a steady flow of players over the years they must have a feeder system from junior ranks," Tobin stated.

"Fact that the proof of the pudding is in the eating," he said. "When Doug Anderson, a junior product, came through in the playoffs for the best senior club in Canada in 1948."

Talent hunt

He said a lack of officials was keen to get anyone who can lift the Chicagoans out of the NHL, do it. Besides Rollins they have Ken Cook and Bob Chasney in mind on this tour of the west. The NHL's deepest Pacific Coast hockey matters with Mac Coyville, coach of the Vancouver Canucks, in the foreground.

Tobin feels that people in Canada have a mistaken opinion of the rugged play of the Flyers. "Toronto Maple Leafs won the Stanley Cup," he asserted, "because they had a big, big, big hockey team, with a lot of power. They didn't win by cutting other squads down to size via rough play and penalties, as many suppose."

And what about out-and-out professionalism which has been adopted by the Pacific Coast? "Well," smiled the grooving boss, "I don't think it's a bad thing. It's a lot of competition for the NHL. After all, every kid's ambition is to play on the same lines of hockey's big time—the NHL."

Maybe Mr. Tobin. But today most Edmonton kids would be satisfied for a berth with the Flyers—Canadian champs.

Of 195, through Indian reservations, and two world wars, right up to the present, Allan Highway and Leduc all strike historians have another tale to write.

It is all wrapped around that dramatic moment Sunday morning when Frank Currie stepped off a train cradling Edmonton's first Allan Cup in his arms.

And the city joins with new life, life conceived in enthusiasm and devoted to the exultation of the

Clover Leafs Capture Basketball Laurels

MONTREAL, May 10. — (CP) — Vancouver's Clover Leafs captured the Dominion senior basketball championship Saturday night when they handed Montreal YMHA Blues a 58-34 trouncing to win the best-of-five series 3-2.

The one-sided victory marked the end of one of the most keenly-contested series ever seen hereabouts. Replete with thrills and amazing comebacks, the five-game affair left little doubt in the minds of the 2,000 fans who turned out for the finale that Clover Leafs were the better club and they paid off when the chips were down.

Vancouver dropped 27 field goals to Montreal's 12 Saturdays. In a wild effort to overcome an almost insurmountable deficit, the Blues opened the game up which, instead of aiding them, proved their downfall. It left Vancouver in a position to set up their shots and they didn't miss.

Bob Pickett, 20-year-old college student, filling in on the starting lineup for Ronnie Weber who pulled a leg muscle last Thursday night, was the top scorer of the evening. He clicked for seven field goals and dropped a free toss in 15 minutes, capturing back Pickett as next in line with 14 white Ole Ball.

Vancouver's most consistent shot-maker ranked third with 12.

TRIBUTES TO FLYERS RING THROUGH CITY

City People Are All Happy

Joe Donkes and all his friends are up in the air today over the Flyers' Allan cup victory.

Victory has them all but dancing in the streets, and even that comes later tonight.

With one exception, grinning citizens were unanimous about the best team having won.

"The Knockers" was an undisciplined ex-Calgarian who thought "Flyers" were just plain lucky."

Some of the opinions expressed on Jasper avenue were:

Cliff Wright, Provincial News: "Flyers are the best team in the world."

Harry Mills, 10715 85 avenue: "One of those 'Frank Merriwell' kind of things, but I don't discredit Fraser at all."

John Ostrey, 11018 107 street: "Thrilled to please—my fiancée was new dollars on the Flyers."

Hill Clark, 11128 64 street: "Team had great spirit—won with their teamwork—every player good."

Cliff Clark, 11128 64 street: "I think the 'penny-lin' was in the way. It was a swell series."

John Newman, 10885 82 street: "Wonderful... very exciting."

Ben Ostrey, manager, Capitol Pipe Shop: "Our boys came through like champs."

Cpl. Alex Larke, RCAF: "Boy, I had a lot of money in the Flyers. They were a real Ottawa team."

Cliff Glover, 10218 125 street: "I'm awfully glad our team really deserved a win."

Alvin Bretton, Garlepy block: "Flyers were helped a lot by home town games—didn't deserve to win quite so easily."

Herbert Shawart, Fairview, Alta.: "Win in the final game was a fluke, but they rated a series win, at least."

Charles Drager, 11446 84 street: "It was a thrilling series, and the right team certainly won't be at the reception, I'm going out of town unfortunately."

Alvin Gies, 10180 107 street: "Marvellous win—sorry I couldn't get to Calgary to cheer them on. Calgary fans could have been a little more enthusiastic."

JAIL TERMS FOR VAGRANTS

Seven persons appeared on a vagrancy charges in city court today.

Two women were sent to prison, one for 30 days, the other for three months.

One woman was withdrawn against a charge from Rosewood, Saskatchewan.

One woman and three other men, all who pleaded not guilty, were remanded until later dates for trial.

Three Held On Dope Charges

Three members of one Edmonton family have been charged with illegal possession of narcotics.

They are Geoffrey Gans, his wife Hertha, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Agnes Myer, 5031 105 avenue.

The trio was remanded until May 18 without a plea being taken.

Bail was set at $2,000 cash, to be raised by 11 a.m. Saturday.

The three were arrested in their home about 3 a.m. Saturday by police constables Mrs. S. Hinchey, Constable Taylor, Constable Galt and Constable Silver, head of the RCMP narcotic squad.

They were alleged to have been in possession of a quantity of heroin at the time of their arrest.

X-Ray Unit Now At Market Square

Number two mobile X-ray unit opened at the state house in Market Square today.

It will operate from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. until May 26.

Health department survey point out that this will be the last opportunity for those desiring X-rays to obtain them.

An estimated 10,000 to 14,000 people are believed to want the service but have not yet had opportunity to attend.

The number of X-rays so far completed has been set at 85,328.

Music Festival Starts Exceeds All Records

Edmonton's 11th district music festival began shortly after 9 a.m. today, bigger than ever.

More than 500 persons will take part in the five-day festival. No previous Edmonton district festival has had more than 400 entries.

Activity is divided into two sections: vocal and instrumental classes, heard in McDougall United Church auditorium every day this morning, afternoon, and evening; and speech classes, heard in theasonic temple, morning and afternoon.

Adjudicator for the vocal and instrumental classes is Max Pirani, London, England; Miss Leona Paterson, Calgary, will judge the speech classes.

A total of 14 scholarships and eight trophies will be competed for during the week. They will be presented at Saturday night concert, at which many of the week's winners are expected.

Mr. Ferrier discussed the conversion, plans, and also dealt with the condition of city streets referring particularly to the non-drainage quality of the clay-type top soil.

He referred to various attempts made to seal the surface against moisture, and recalled the laying of concrete surface slabs for truckage base as one attempt to overcome the problem.

These slabs had to be discarded in 1918 as they tended to break up very quickly.

Discussion on the conversion program was chiefly confined to the High Level bridge project.

It is now suggested that two two-lane roadways be laid on the upper deck, one on either side of the railway tracks.

There would take care of both bus and motor traffic over the High Level bridge.

Concrete curbs 18 inches high would be on the outer edges of the roadway, and between the roadways and the tracks.

Everyone Singing Praise Of Conquering Champs

Tributes aplenty poured in today as civic and provincial officials, as well as every Joe Donkes in Edmonton sang the praises of the Allan Cup champions, Edmonton's own Flyers.

From Premier Manning and Mayor Harry Ainlay, to the little man who sweeps off the sidewalk near the CNR station, the name "Flyers" was on everyone's lips.

"The Flyers are the best ambassadors we have ever had," was one comment.

And here are some others:

Major Ainlay says: "Edmonton Flyers have won the Allan Cup and today are supreme in our city as they are in Canada."

"The team had a stellar preparation on our own ice, and this demonstrates the fact that Edmonton fans have won the best amateur hockey in the country."

"The Flyers have shown real championship calibre in that they fought their way to the top from the bottom of the 'cup.'"

"They showed, we will win."

The team is not new. In all of stars it is a balanced team with each player making his best for the team.

"I have followed the Flyers team since they started in 1937. I am proud to see them win the Allan Cup."

Manning Praise by Phone

Premier Ernest Manning was en route to a Regina grand conference Sunday.

But from Calgary through trains he told The Bulletin by phone:

"Give my congratulations to the boys. I wish I could be in town or in the city to see them."

"Mrs. Manning and I want to pay our tribute to the 'Flyers' bringing the Cup home to Edmonton."

Acting premier during Mr. Manning's absence, Hon. Dr. W. W. Brown, said:

"A great thing for the Flyers is a great thing for the city. It is only a great team could have won the Cup."

Delighted by Edmonton's success, said Hon. C. E. Gorman, minister of municipal affairs:

"A championship team and championship coaching clicked."

"I'm very proud that the Flyers have brought laurels to Alberta and I hope that Edmonton citizens will turn out with a cordial welcome for a victorious team."

Chamber of Commerce Proud

Chamber of Commerce President F. G. Winspear was at the coast, but Chamber Vice-Presidents A. L. Burrows and Oliver McIntyre told The Bulletin how the C. of C. felt.

Said Mr. Burrows, first vice president: "Every best wish and congratulations to the Flyers. The Chamber of Commerce is very proud of them."

"Looking to future Edmonton All Stars says Mr. McIntyre: 'He was listening to Saturday night's game on the radio. I even enjoyed that last goal.' I've enjoyed 'Im proud of the boys.'"

"The canny 'Mac' added: 'The Flyers' victory indicates that we must spend more time in it. I think every citizen should give every possible encouragement to junior teams and the younger players. I think every organization and every citizen should back them to the utmost.'"

"That's the idea to get more players to win future Allan Cups."

Polish Financier Now In District Nearly Penniless

A pre-war Polish financier, disillusions owner and government expert will take up residence as a farmer in the Edmonton area.

He is Wladyslaw Runciewicz, former taxation expert for the Polish government, and author of many works on the subject of taxation.

Once a millionaire, he is now nearly penniless.

During the war he was separated from his wife and family for six years, but succeeded in getting them out of Poland after the war while working for UNRRA.

Deputy Minister To Address Meeting

Forest Heights Home and School Association will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. Speaker will be Dr. A. Somerville, assistant deputy minister of health. Topic: "How Shall I Tell My Child?"

Nominations for officers for 1948-49 season will be accepted.

Premier May Call Session

Special session of the Alberta legislature may be called to deal with marketing of coarse grains.

Premier Ernest Manning, Hon. D. B. MacMillan, now minister of public works and formerly minister of agriculture; Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney-general, and O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, are attending a special agricultural conference in Regina today.

One of the main topics to be discussed by government representatives of the three prairie provinces and heads of farm organizations at today's Regina sessions will be the marketing of coarse grains.

At the close of the last session of the Alberta legislature the government approved a resolution asking an investigation into coarse grain marketing and "if found necessary" the calling of a special session to pass legislation to bring the sale of the feed grains under the Wheat Board.

Saskatchewan's legislature has already approved regulations to implement such a method of handling this share of the prairie province's crop.

Manitoba and Alberta still await legislative approval.

Farm organizations in the province have been unanimous the provincial government should take the legislative action indicated.
